I hereby consent to the use of photographs, movies and video, online or the printing and electronic publication of information (collectively “works”) of myself by the Partnership for the Advancement of Cancer Research or its designees, licensees, successors and agents.

In good and valuable consideration, I hereby transfer and assign to Partnership for the Advancement of Cancer Research all of my right, title and interest in and to any such works and the copyright in such works, including all rights of registration, publication, and the right to create derivative works.

I further agree that Partnership for the Advancement of Cancer Research may reproduce and use my likeness for promotional purposes or any other purpose consistent with the educational and charitable purposes of the organization.

I hereby release Partnership for the Advancement of Cancer Research from any and all claims, demands and liabilities of any nature whatsoever whether now existing or hereafter arising which relate to the use of any such works or of my likeness in accordance with this consent.
